THE BODY SERUM THAT ADDS MORE TO YOUR MOISTURISER

Lizard-like skin beware, this super-serum is coming for you

With summer on its way, we're on the hunt for something to boost our skincare artillery and help transform our hibernating limbs into something a little more beach-appropriate. Despite our body creams contributing their best efforts, our dry skin is still in need of a super-dose of hydration and that's where the new Optimal Body TriSerum from ESPA, £38 comes in.

More than a moisturiser but less greasy than a body oil, this serum is enriched with a summer cocktail of nourishing skin goodies ranging from omega oils, vitamins A and E and marine extracts to ensure you needn't worry about hitching your hemline a few inches north this summer.

Great used as either on its own or underneath your normal body moisturiser depending on how intensive a treatment you need, it's the pick-me-up that our skin will be grateful for come staycation or vacation time this summer.
